THE CHRISTMAS OF OUI

Press release

After the dryness of black and white TE UMU TI, TE UMU TI, solo exhibition of ELODIE LECAT (from November 24 to December 22), OUI presents in a very short format an exhibition that is meant to be a lighting, warm and a bit ugly event: THE CHRISTMAS OF OUI.

It is a exhibition-sales of small works, multiples of limited editions, approaching therefore the christmas markets with little wooden huts that seem to be inevitable from now on, like the parties of the end of the year at schools or companies (with a big disguised mister who wears a beard made of white cotton).

There will be works of about fifteen artists who accepted to play the game, but also christmas songs, a christmas tree, decorations, hot wine, angels etc. Christmas. Christmas! Christmas !!! So it is, christmas.

It will all take place, like it should, on the last Sunday before Christmas, the day where we wonder around to find the hypothetic last gift, the day where the exhausted sales(we)men wear the ridiculous red hats, so the day where all the shops are open.

On Sunday December 23 from 10 AM to 8 PM, without interruption: OUI proposes THE CHRISTMAS OF OUI. So this year, for your gifts, be prepared...buy at the last moment!

With Emilie Besse, Guillaume Brissaud, Raphaël Charpentié, Serge Comte, Clôde Coulpier, Fabrice Croux, Grégory Cuquel, Eric Férès, Severine Gorlier, Ivars Graveljs, Elise Grognet, Berthine Gerbet, David Lefebvre, Elodie Lecat, Alexandre Ouairy, Fanette Muxart, Raoul McCain, Alice Nikitinova ...
